

Robert and Rachel were at the Ride-A-Thon event at Rolling Ranch Theme Park. They were going to ride every roller coaster in three hours. "Are you ready?" asked Robert. Rachel smiled and replied, "I'm ready! Let's go to the right first." The first roller coaster was called the Rocking Chair because the carts rocked back and forth the whole ride. They ran to the gate and a man that looked like a referee put their rucksacks on a rack and helped them get into a cart. "Rock on!" he called as the cart began to roll. ___/23

Rebecca loved rainbows. Every time she saw a rainbow she tried to run and find the leprechaun. She always had a rhyme ready to recite if she found him so she could get a wish. Her wish was to touch the red ribbon of the rainbow. Ron told her that leprechauns weren't real, but Rebecca refused to believe him. Ron also said that wishes were risky. Rebecca didn't care. She knew her wish was all right. Ron would realize that he was wrong when she found her leprechaun. ___/21

Rick heard the thunder roll and realized it was about to rain. He ran down the road, racing the storm, until his ribs hurt from running. The rocky road was rough to run on. Finally, Rick reached his house. He followed the rules and wiped his feet off on the porch rug. Right when he rushed into the living room, he heard the rain hit the roof, rinsing off the dirt that had rested on it during the dry summer. ___/23

Rudy and Rhonda liked different types of food. Rhonda was like a rabbit and loved raw vegetables, especially dipped in ranch. She even liked radishes and broccoli. Rudy liked really salty snacks, like Ruffles chips. He loved the sound the wrappers made when he removed them by ripping them open. His favorite drink to reach for was root beer-- he could drink 5 refills at one meal. Once, he spilled it on his favorite shirt and ruined it, even after wiping it with a rag. Rhonda would rather be refreshed with water, which didn't ruin anything she wore. ___/22

Ray rowed his boat in the big round pond. The river ran into the pond to his right and made ripples in the water. He didn't have a regular oar yet, but had rigged one up using a rusty pipe. He knew it would rot away eventually. Suddenly Ray heard a noise and jumped, dropping his oar. His relative, Ruth, had come to the pond and called him for dinner. Ray couldn't recover his oar to row back. He asked Ruth to go get a rope. She did and returned quickly, throwing it to him to help him return to shore. ___/21

Articulation Reading Passages

prev. /r/

Robert and Rachel were at the Ride-A-Thon event at Rolling Ranch Theme Park. They were going to ride every roller coaster in three hours. "Are you ready?" asked Robert. Rachel smiled and replied, "I'm ready! Let's go to the right first." The first roller coaster was called the Rocking Chair because the carts rocked back and forth the whole ride. They ran to the gate and a man that looked like a referee put their rucksacks on a rack and helped them get into a cart. "Rock on!" he called as the cart began to roll. ___/23

Rebecca loved rainbows. Every time she saw a rainbow she tried to run and find the leprechaun. She always had a rhyme ready to recite if she found him so she could get a wish. Her wish was to touch the red ribbon of the rainbow. Ron told her that leprechauns weren't real, but Rebecca refused to believe him. Ron also said that wishes were risky. Rebecca didn't care. She knew her wish was all right. Ron would realize that he was wrong when she found her leprechaun. ___/21

Rick heard the thunder roll and realized it was about to rain. He ran down the road, racing the storm, until his ribs hurt from running. The rocky road was rough to run on. Finally, Rick reached his house. He followed the rules and wiped his feet off on the porch rug. Right when he rushed into the living room, he heard the rain hit the roof, rinsing off the dirt that had rested on it during the dry summer. ___/23

Rudy and Rhonda liked different types of food. Rhonda was like a rabbit and loved raw vegetables, especially dipped in ranch. She even liked radishes and broccoli. Rudy liked really salty snacks, like Ruffles chips. He loved the sound the wrappers made when he removed them by ripping them open. His favorite drink to reach for was root beer-- he could drink 5 refills at one meal. Once, he spilled it on his favorite shirt and ruined it, even after wiping it with a rag. Rhonda would rather be refreshed with water, which didn't ruin anything she wore. ___/22

Ray rowed his boat in the big round pond. The river ran into the pond to his right and made ripples in the water. He didn't have a regular oar yet, but had rigged one up using a rusty pipe. He knew it would rot away eventually. Suddenly Ray heard a noise and jumped, dropping his oar. His relative, Ruth, had come to the pond and called him for dinner. Ray couldn't recover his oar to row back. He asked Ruth to go get a rope. She did and returned quickly, throwing it to him to help him return to shore. ___/21